a searing critique of the disability rights movement from within and a call for collective liberation that is pro black and centers disabled people of color for over twenty years dara baldwin has often been the only person of color in the room when significant disability policy decisions are made disenfranchisement of people of color and multi marginalized communities within the disability rights community is not new and has left many inside the community feeling frustrated and erased in to be a problem baldwin candidly shares her journey to becoming a disability activist and policymaker in dc while critiquing the disability rights community she reveals the reality of erasure for many black people and people of color in the disability movement and argues that in turn many white disabled people center themselves within the work without addressing their own white privilege disability rights groups have been centering white straight cisgender people while racial justice groups often fail to center disabled people leading many black and brown disabled people to start their own disability justice organizations drawing from her unique vantage point baldwin calls readers to understand the shortcomings of the disability rights movement while inspiring us to push all movements towards a more inclusive and authentic liberation
